Our Advertising friends are requested to send their notices not later than Monday. The advance in the price, within the past three or four days, is more than enough to pay the amount due the Watchman, two or three times over. Let us see how many will take this view of it, and make such provision from the gain thus realized? We pause for the response.

Improvements. Mr. J. E. SUAREZ, we are pleased to see, has recently improved his store and added largely to his stock. His well filled shelves now present an attractive appearance, and his establishment, throughout, is one worthy the handsome patronage it receives. His advertisement will be found in our columns, to which we beg to refer our readers.

Planters' Warehouse. This liberal establishment has again placed us under obligations, its courteous leading proprietor putting on our table, with his own hands, a bottle of champagne of the Gen. Lee brand—an article of the finest French production. This establishment is prepared to furnish this wine at former figures, notwithstanding the existence of Franco-Texasian war has advanced the price in New York more than one hundred per cent.

Good Things and Pretty Things. The eyes of beauty and the tooth of childhood must, and (as Words of creation,) "O children, should be gratified. A set of the "Look Within," the other day, conveyed us that the Variety Store of Mr. FRANKLIN FOLSON is the place to find the wherewith to delight these charming elements of every well regulated household.

The Sumter Book Store. Is the place to buy books and stationery cheap, as well as many other articles of use and beauty, legitimately connected with that department. All kinds of writing paper is sold cheaper than it can be bought at the large book stores of Charleston. If you don't believe it, go and see.

New Features. Mr. J. D. CHAIR has recently made additions to his stock of Furniture, and is now prepared to show his friends a considerable variety. He has some very "cottage sets," comfortable bedsteads, convenient tables and bureaus; and, with all the rest, of course he didn't forget the crib—not he. He knows the wants of Sumter too well for that.

He has competent workmen always employed, and will make or repair in the Furniture and Upholstery department generally. He is also fully prepared as an Undertaker, and can furnish coffins of almost any style or finish. Altogether, his establishment is just such as Sumter could not dispense with, and should be liberally patronized.

MEETING OF THE CITIZENS OF SUMTER, in honor of the Memory of GEN. ROBT. EDMUND LEE.

OCTOBER 19th, 1870. A large meeting of the ladies and gentlemen of Sumter, and the surviving officers and soldiers of the late Confederate army, assembled in the Baptist Church, this evening, to manifest some expression of their deep sorrow at the death of the illustrious champion of Southern liberty and honor—General Robert Edmund Lee.

The meeting was called to order by the Rev. N. GRAHAM, by requesting Capt. E. C. GREEN, the President of the town, to assume the chair, and Col. T. V. WALSH, Mr. A. A. GIBBENT, and Richard D. Lee, to act as Secretaries.

The combined choir of the various Churches of the town, accompanied by the organ of the church, with its mellow, soothing tones, having first added a deeper solemnity to the occasion by singing—

"There is an hour of peaceful rest, To mourning wanderers given," At the request of the Chairman, the Rev. Donald McQUEEN, of the Presbyterian church, offered an earnest and affecting prayer—the entire meeting rising from their seats.

On motion, the chair then appointed Capt. J. S. RICHMOND, E. W. MOISE, Esq., and Rev. N. GRAHAM, a committee to retire and report suitable resolutions upon the death of Gen. Lee—for the action of the meeting—the choir in the interval rendering, with sudden effect, the hymn—

"Thou art gone to the grave, but we will not deplore thee," The committee having returned, Mr. RICHMOND introduced the resolution, which was a few minutes later adopted by the meeting, and the address of the speaker, the Rev. Donald McQUEEN, of the Presbyterian church, offered an earnest and affecting prayer—the entire meeting rising from their seats.

Mr. E. W. MOISE, in rising to second the resolution, spoke with his well-known eloquence of his much loved commander and personal acquaintance. He spoke of his early and highly honorable military training at West Point, and his gallant exploits in Mexico. Of his strong attachment to the American Union, but of his greater and stronger devotion to his mother State and the South, as shown in his letter of resignation to the Secretary of War in 1861. And of many little incidents of camp life, showing his tender solicitude for his soldiers, and his readiness of his noble heart, the remarks of the speaker sending address to the hearts of many a battle-scarred veteran present who had followed their grand old leader to victory through an hundred bloody fields.

Rev. Mr. McQUEEN then delivered a short and impressive address, commending the life and character of the distinguished christian hero to the youth of the South and of the world.

The resolution was then unanimously adopted, as follows—the entire meeting rising from their seats to the vote:

Resolved, That in the death of Gen. Robert E. Lee, the world has lost its greatest military chieftain, and the purest man of our age. The American nation, the brightest representative of a noble character which has given lustre and fame to our history since the days of Washington, in whom alone we find his compeer; and our South, our country, our hero, our friend and our guide.

The meeting then closed with a benediction from the Rev. Mr. MOISE, every one present feeling deeply sensitive of the great national calamity and of his individual loss.

E. C. GREEN, Chairman. T. V. WALSH, Secretary. RICHARD D. LEE, Secretary.

The Five Dollar Sewing Machine purchased by me, January, 1866, from the Family Sewing Machine Company, 66 Nassau Street, N. Y., has been in use for over four years. Has cost nothing for repairs, and is still as simple and reliable in operation, and always ready to sew. These improvements are very much pleased. This one I have I would not part with.

MRS. ANN W. OUTHURST, 428 West 36th Street, New York.

"SUMMER BITTERS" produce such good digestion and quiet rest as Bryant describes in the following: "Like one who wrings the dregs of his couch around him and lies down to pleasant dreams."

Dr. J. C. BROWN, has, by spit, blow, and dig, every body with your Catarrh and its offensive odor, when Dr. J. C. BROWN'S Bitters will speedily destroy all dregs and arrest the discharge. The proprietor offers $400 for a case he cannot cure. Sold by druggists, or by mail, sixty cents. Pamphlet free. Address Dr. J. C. BROWN, Buffalo, N. Y.

Public events of moment, when deeply and fully considered, are the fertile womb of political maxims, which ought to contain the very soul of the moral history. Private griefs however, arising from bodily ailments, such as indigestion, torpid liver, etc., should be immediately attended to, and for such relief apply to the "Old Carolina Bitters."

The best Worm Candy is one is Winsman's Opysinated Drops! If you want to buy Harness, Saddles, Trunks, Valises, Bags, Satchels, Collars, Hammes, Chains, Riding-bridles, Martingales, Whips, Spurs, Curry-combs, Horse-brushes, Feather-brushes, Axle-grease, Oil, Leather, Saddlery Hardware, and all Goods kept in a first class Saddletry Establishment, call on J. S. TOPPAN & CO., No. 8 South Front Street, Wilmington, N. C.

FIVE CENTS ADDITIONAL will buy shoes with silver or copper tips, which will save the price of a new pair of shoes. Compared with ragged toes and dirty stockings, they are beautiful, to say the least. Parents, try it!

HOW TO MAKE HOME ATTRACTIVE. Don't have wooden ceilings, that require a cord of lightwood to illuminate the room. Don't have windows without curtains, so that whenever it rains you must shut out the light of heaven. Don't have sashes without blinds, so that the summer sun will dazzle your eyes, warp your furniture and fade your carpet. But order all the necessary materials for furnishing your house in comfortable style from P. P. TOLLE, Charleston, S. C., the only manufacturer of such things in the Southern States.

about what I have, come and examine the Blacking, Brushes, Shoe Findings, &c., which I can furnish, wholesale or retail, at prices to make it an object.

is also a fact: I have a lot of HATS at cost to close Invoice. Call at

James Caldwell's, Main Street, OPPOSITE J. T. SOLOMON'S.

Our Advertising friends are requested to send their notices not later than Monday. The advance in the price, within the past three or four days, is more than enough to pay the amount due the Watchman, two or three times over. Let us see how many will take this view of it, and make such provision from the gain thus realized? We pause for the response.

Improvements. Mr. J. E. SUAREZ, we are pleased to see, has recently improved his store and added largely to his stock. His well filled shelves now present an attractive appearance, and his establishment, throughout, is one worthy the handsome patronage it receives. His advertisement will be found in our columns, to which we beg to refer our readers.

Planters' Warehouse. This liberal establishment has again placed us under obligations, its courteous leading proprietor putting on our table, with his own hands, a bottle of champagne of the Gen. Lee brand—an article of the finest French production. This establishment is prepared to furnish this wine at former figures, notwithstanding the existence of Franco-Texasian war has advanced the price in New York more than one hundred per cent.

Good Things and Pretty Things. The eyes of beauty and the tooth of childhood must, and (as Words of creation,) "O children, should be gratified. A set of the "Look Within," the other day, conveyed us that the Variety Store of Mr. FRANKLIN FOLSON is the place to find the wherewith to delight these charming elements of every well regulated household.

The Sumter Book Store. Is the place to buy books and stationery cheap, as well as many other articles of use and beauty, legitimately connected with that department. All kinds of writing paper is sold cheaper than it can be bought at the large book stores of Charleston. If you don't believe it, go and see.

New Features. Mr. J. D. CHAIR has recently made additions to his stock of Furniture, and is now prepared to show his friends a considerable variety. He has some very "cottage sets," comfortable bedsteads, convenient tables and bureaus; and, with all the rest, of course he didn't forget the crib—not he. He knows the wants of Sumter too well for that.

He has competent workmen always employed, and will make or repair in the Furniture and Upholstery department generally. He is also fully prepared as an Undertaker, and can furnish coffins of almost any style or finish. Altogether, his establishment is just such as Sumter could not dispense with, and should be liberally patronized.

MEETING OF THE CITIZENS OF SUMTER, in honor of the Memory of GEN. ROBT. EDMUND LEE.

OCTOBER 19th, 1870. A large meeting of the ladies and gentlemen of Sumter, and the surviving officers and soldiers of the late Confederate army, assembled in the Baptist Church, this evening, to manifest some expression of their deep sorrow at the death of the illustrious champion of Southern liberty and honor—General Robert Edmund Lee.

The meeting was called to order by the Rev. N. GRAHAM, by requesting Capt. E. C. GREEN, the President of the town, to assume the chair, and Col. T. V. WALSH, Mr. A. A. GIBBENT, and Richard D. Lee, to act as Secretaries.

The combined choir of the various Churches of the town, accompanied by the organ of the church, with its mellow, soothing tones, having first added a deeper solemnity to the occasion by singing—

"There is an hour of peaceful rest, To mourning wanderers given," At the request of the Chairman, the Rev. Donald McQUEEN, of the Presbyterian church, offered an earnest and affecting prayer—the entire meeting rising from their seats.

On motion, the chair then appointed Capt. J. S. RICHMOND, E. W. MOISE, Esq., and Rev. N. GRAHAM, a committee to retire and report suitable resolutions upon the death of Gen. Lee—for the action of the meeting—the choir in the interval rendering, with sudden effect, the hymn—

"Thou art gone to the grave, but we will not deplore thee," The committee having returned, Mr. RICHMOND introduced the resolution, which was a few minutes later adopted by the meeting, and the address of the speaker, the Rev. Donald McQUEEN, of the Presbyterian church, offered an earnest and affecting prayer—the entire meeting rising from their seats.

Mr. E. W. MOISE, in rising to second the resolution, spoke with his well-known eloquence of his much loved commander and personal acquaintance. He spoke of his early and highly honorable military training at West Point, and his gallant exploits in Mexico. Of his strong attachment to the American Union, but of his greater and stronger devotion to his mother State and the South, as shown in his letter of resignation to the Secretary of War in 1861. And of many little incidents of camp life, showing his tender solicitude for his soldiers, and his readiness of his noble heart, the remarks of the speaker sending address to the hearts of many a battle-scarred veteran present who had followed their grand old leader to victory through an hundred bloody fields.

Rev. Mr. McQUEEN then delivered a short and impressive address, commending the life and character of the distinguished christian hero to the youth of the South and of the world.

The resolution was then unanimously adopted, as follows—the entire meeting rising from their seats to the vote:

Resolved, That in the death of Gen. Robert E. Lee, the world has lost its greatest military chieftain, and the purest man of our age. The American nation, the brightest representative of a noble character which has given lustre and fame to our history since the days of Washington, in whom alone we find his compeer; and our South, our country, our hero, our friend and our guide.

The meeting then closed with a benediction from the Rev. Mr. MOISE, every one present feeling deeply sensitive of the great national calamity and of his individual loss.

E. C. GREEN, Chairman. T. V. WALSH, Secretary. RICHARD D. LEE, Secretary.</
